HARDING AND COOLIDGE NAMED

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR PRESIDENT TOILED AS A BOY ON FATHER'S FARM, LATER BUYING A NEWSPAPER.

By the Associated Press
Warren G. Harding, United States Senator from Ohio, was born on his grandfather's farm, where his father resided, just outside the village of Blooming Grove, Morrow county, Ohio, November 2nd, 1865. He was the eldest of eight children.

He is the son of Dr. George T. Harding, who at the time of Warren's birth was the village doctor. In those days no night was too dark, no journey too long over almost impassable roads for him to go to alleviate the suffering of some patient.

The Hardings were of colonial stock, coming originally from Scotland, settling in Connecticut, removing later to the Wyoming Valley Pennsylvania, where some of them were massacred. Other fought in the Revolutionary war. Warren's mother, Phoebe Dickerson, was descended from an old time Holland Dutch family and thus was blended the blood of the Holland Dutch with that of the hardy Scotch.

Toiled in the Forest

The country roundabout where the Hardings located was mostly woodland. His grandfather owned a small tract of land and was neither better or worse off than his neighbors. They were all engaged in cutting away the timber and transforming a primitive forest into cultivated farms. And in those days every child was expected to contribute his share of toil in overcoming the obstacles of nature in the transforming process.

As Warren grew up he learned to fell trees, chop wood, split rails, plant and hoe corn and do all the things incident to farm life. Those were the days when farm labors were performed by hand. In this way young Harding acquired the habit of industry.

However, it was not all toil for young Harding. He attended the village school until fourteen when he entered Ohio Central college at Iberia, from which he graduated. During his college course he was editor of the college paper where he first displayed a "nose for news."

Taught School at 17.
Like all boys of that day he was obliged to work during vacations to pay for his tuition. He cut corn, was an amateur painter and drove a team in the grading of the T. & O. C. railroad which was being constructed through that community.

At seventeen he was teaching school and "tooting a horn" in the village brass band.

One of his fellow musicians, who is now at the head of a great manufacturing plant and who since sat with him on various boards of directors, recounts that the band once took third prize in a tournament.

At odd times Harding worked in the little printing office in the village nearby. He became a first-class compositor and interested himself in the mechanism of the entire plant. When linotypes were invented he mastered the keyboard so that he finally mastered the intimate workings of a newspaper from the editorial room to the press room.

A friend relates an incident which illustrates the "human" side of Harding's character.

Was Helping Out Printers.
Entering the office of the "Star" one New Year's morning he found the senator making up the form and performing all the duties of the foreman who was busy elsewhere.

"What's the idea?" inquired the friend.

"Well, you see," responded the senator, "this is a holiday, and we want to go to press early so that the men may get home and pass the day with their families, so I'm lending a hand."

When the forms were made up and the paper went to press the senator and his friend adjourned to the editorial room for a chat.

Except for quick work on the part of G. W. Stripling, Alva Nettles would probably be a corpse today, as the result of a pistol shot at the hands of W. B. House, local cotton man, last night.

The shooting took place about 9:30 o'clock in front of the Palm Garden, right in the center of the city, and when the popular drink stand and street in front was crowded with people.

It is not known what caused the trouble between the two men. A reporter for the News could not find Mr. House this morning, but his closest friends who know him to be a man of calm judgment say he had ample cause to undertake to shoot Mr. Nettles.

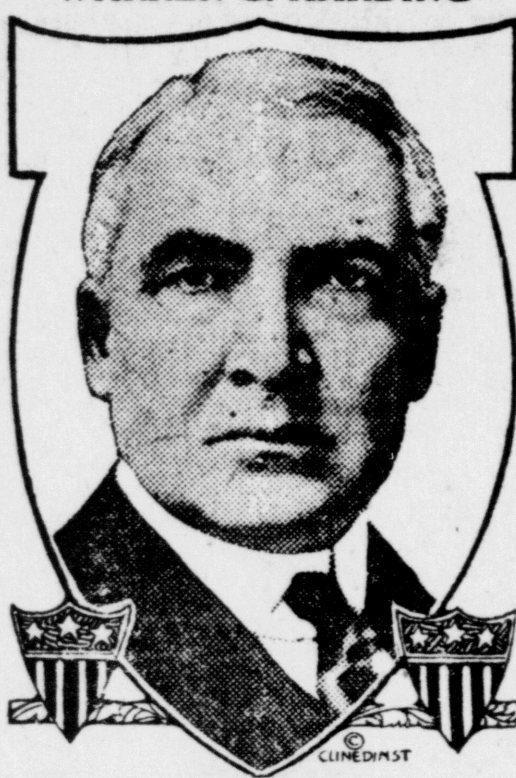

neck with a large pistol. The pistol fell to the ground and Mr. Schienberg says he then thought they were going to have a fist fight. But instead of a fist fight Mr. House drew another pistol, a 380 special Colts automatic and pointed it toward Mr. Nettles. Sam says there was then a great commotion and business picked up.

Mr. Nettles would not talk to a reporter for the News further than to say he had no idea of why he was assaulted by Mr. House. Mr. Stegall did not give expression to his views of the affair.

Mr. G. W. Stripling, who works at the Cox-Crandall garage, was sitting on the running board of his automobile parked in front of the Palm Garden, and when asked by the reporter for an expression, said:

"My sole interest in the affair was to stop the fight. Both men are friends of mine and I wanted to stop the fight as quickly as possible. Consequently when I saw the automatic pistol I made a lunge for Mr. House throwing my hands over his shoulders from behind and catching the gun. When I did this I raised the gun upward and it went off, the bullet piercing the ceiling. He had a dead aim on Mr. Nettles. (Continued on page 5.)

Willis Nominates Harding.

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, June 14.—Assailing the present administration as an oligarchy in which the few rule the many and telling his hearers that the country faces a problem more serious than those faced by either Washington or Lincoln, Frank B. Willis, former governor of Ohio, placed the name of Senator Warren G. Harding in nomination for the presidency at the republican national convention Friday.

Former Governor Willis recited briefly Senator Harding's record in the senate and promised that if nominated he would be elected. He charged that production had been hampered by so-called government regulations and announced that the republican party had been called upon to rescue the country and save American institutions. Mr. Willis said:

"Republican success is always desirable—in 1920 it is imperative. Called into being by Abraham Lincoln to save the Union, the republican party merited its long years of triumphs through its valiant service to the republic and its promotion of the people's progress. It battled for national prosperity and sound finance under the leadership of Ohio's knightliest son, William McKinley; it raised the victorious standard of the square deal and obedience to the law at the call of that stalwart, red-blooded American, Theodore Roosevelt. But vast as are its achievements and brilliant as has been its leadership, the man nominated here today must be of type big enough to enable him to look with level gaze to the leadership of other years, and to face undaunted, problems more serious than those which confronted Washington or Lincoln. We have emerged from a world war victorious and unafraid; in that great struggle to maintain the national honor and preserve free government among men, republicans on battlefield, in congress and in private life did their full share as Americans regardless of the repeated insults of the most bitterly partisan administration in the history of the republic, and the official pronouncement that the only way to sustain the republic and be patriotic was to vote the ticket of the party that won in 1916 because 'he kept us out of war,' and seek to win in 1920 because 'he kept us out of peace.'

"In the fevered atmosphere that settled about a world, war-worn, weary, pestilential vapors have sprung up periling the peace of the world and the perpetuity of our own republic.

"Bolshevism and anarchy stalk fiery-eyed and militant across the planet and even dare to shake their bristly hair in our own country undismayed by an administration that furnishes its own autocratic constitutional acts the very soil in which I. W. Wism flourishes and which fulminates against radicalism through one department of the government and encourages it by important executive and diplomatic appointments in others. Instead of orderly liberty regulated by law, under democratic mis-rule this government has become an oligarchy in which the few rule the many by intimidation; government by threat must cease."

"The necessities of our country, unprepared for war, furnished excuse for expenditures of unparalleled extravagance; this wastefulness was endured without a murmur while the war lasted, but now the people demand and will have retrenchment—extravagance must give way to economy if the country would avoid bankruptcy."

"Production is hampered and hamstringing by so-called government regulation of business by those who understand neither business nor government. To add to these domestic woes, those in authority by a self-assumed 'mandate,' seized in the face of flat repudiation by the American people at the ballot box, have undertaken to sign away, by a stroke of the pen, the independence won by the sword of Washington. The spirit of unswerving loyalty to American traditions and institutions upheld by every president from Washington to Roosevelt, has been superseded by a vague, misty, polygamous, patriotism that would scatter its affections indiscriminately among Bengalese and Bolsheviks and which would prove as unsatisfactory as the rule of the few."

LA FOLLETTE MAY HEAD NEW PARTY

MILLION VOTERS DRIVEN OUT IS CLAIM OF PROGRESSIVES. CAMPAIGN FOR HARDING STARTS SOON

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, June 14.—Declaration by Amos Tinchin, member of the committee of forty-eight, that possibly there would be a new party presidential candidate in the field, rumors that Senator La Follette would head a ticket as presidential candidate and announcement that the campaign in behalf of Senator Warren G. Harding, republican presidential nominee would be started promptly were the outstanding developments following the republican national convention. The statement by Mr. Tinchin declared that the republican party had driven out of representation in its council the million voters who followed Roosevelt, Johnson and La Follette.

Republican party managers, it was said, would start the campaign soon after the democratic convention is held and would not wait until Senator Harding and Governor Coolidge are officially notified of their nomination.

FILES SUIT FOR HEAVY DAMAGES

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK, June 14.—Suit for one million dollars damages was filed in federal court here today by attorneys for Gaston B. Means against District Attorney Edward H. Swann and Assistant District Attorney John T. Dooling.

The complaint charges the defendant with conspiring with officials of the Northern Trust company of Chicago to "bribe and corrupt witnesses" to testify falsely against the plaintiff in his trial for the murder of Mrs. Maud A. Robinson King and to defeat probate of the alleged last will of James King, her husband.

Ada Man Is Employed As Special Writer For Farm and Ranch

W. D. Little will leave tonight for an extended trip thru southern Oklahoma and Texas. He has been employed by the Farm and Ranch, the great farm paper of the Southwest, to travel in its territory and write feature stories concerning farm life and conditions and tell in particular of the co-operative schemes that farmers are now promoting.

Mr. Little will visit New Mexico and Arkansas in addition to his travels in Oklahoma and Texas. He is splendidly equipped for this character of work as he has specialized in writing farm and ranch features for several years. During his connection with the Evening News he was a frequent contributor to the columns of Farm and Ranch, some of his stories attaining a wide circulation.

HARDING BACK AT DESK IN CAPITAL

NOMINEE WILL MEET MANAGERS AND WIND UP HIS AFFAIRS PREPARATORY TO CAMPAIGN.

From Saturday's Daily
WASHINGTON, June 12.—Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, republican presidential nominee, was back at his office in the capital today, accompanied by Mrs. Harding, his secretary, George Chustain, and a small group of senators. He arrived here a few minutes after midnight and went directly to his home on Wyoming avenue.

Senator Harding told the Associated Press that he would remain in Washington for about a week. He expected to be busy for a day or two cleaning up the business accumulated as senator, but the coming of W. H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, will force him immediately into the part assigned him by the convention. He will confer with Hays and his political managers with the idea of getting his campaign under way at once.

Congratulations upon his nomination continued to reach Senator Harding at his office, while at his home Mrs. Harding was the recipient of numerous enthusiastic messages from their personal friends.

WARSAW, June 14.—The Bolsheviks are pouring into the Kiev region by the greatest number of divisions the Poles have ever faced, according to reports received tonight. The Poles are withdrawing their main forces.

LONDON PAPERS WITH HOLD COMMENT

By the Associated Press
LONDON, June 14.—Warren G. Harding's personality and record being virtually unknown here, newspaper comments this morning expressed neither satisfaction or disappointment in regard to the republican's choice of a presidential candidate.

Several newspapers referred to him as a "dark horse," and infer from cabled reports that he represents a compromise. Two or three journals assume the result of the Chicago convention has opened the possibility of the election of a democrat for the presidency, which has of late been regarded here as an extreme improbability.

MANY KILLED IN BIG TRAIN WRECK

WRECK IN SOUTH CHICAGO CAUSES DEATH OF 30 PASSENGERS. LARGE NUMBER INJURED

By the Associated Press
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 14.—Several persons were killed in the wreck of the Pere Marquette train at South Chicago today, according to reports received at local railroad stations.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Train no 51 from Grand Rapids to Chicago was wrecked early this morning at 103rd street crossing in South Chicago. Police say 30 passengers were killed. The railway company says only two are known to have died.

The Chicago fire department received a report that 25 were dead. All ambulances in the section have been rushed to the scene. The train bringing week end parties back from Michigan summer resorts struck a freight train. The west bound passenger train rushing through a fog crashed headon into an east bound freight, according to an agent at the 106th street depot. One body has been recovered.

LABOR MEN OPPOSE IMPORTING PEONS

By the Associated Press
MONTREAL, June 14.—It is pitiable that the United States has not ratified the league of nations, Samuel Gompers, president of the American federation of labor declared today in an address before the federal convention.

The league covenants were submitted to the American people "without any entangling questions it would be overwhelmingly accepted," he said. Secretary Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, announced he had telegraphed a protest to the department of labor, against the importation of laborers from Mexico to "break" the longshoremen strike at Galveston.

Threshing Men Fix Price To Charge For Threshing Grain

A meeting of grain growers and threshermen was held Saturday in the office of County Agent J. B. Hill to arrange for the threshing season, which will begin in about two weeks. It was agreed by the men who will operate threshers that they would charge a uniform price for threshing grain this season, the price to be 8c for oats, 13c for barley and 18c for wheat.

This price was not very satisfactory to the grain growers who believe that the price is too high. The men who own the threshers, however, declare that it will be impossible to make any profit on their investment at any lower price. The oat crop is now being harvested and the crop will be cut by the last of this week. The threshing will begin about the last of the month. According to Mr. Hill the wheat has been seriously damaged by rust and the yield will not be more than fifty per cent of what it was expected to be.

There are 450 species of frogs.

Service Our Middle Name

Comparison for the last few days with the daily papers of the larger cities shows that the Evening News doesn't have to take off its hat to any of them.

During the entire deliberations of the Republican national convention the Evening News got the full report of the proceedings over its special leased telephone wire to Oklahoma City and the reports you read in the morning papers from the cities reaching here were completely covered in this paper the evening before.

Not only that but we had an extra on the streets Saturday evening within an hour after the convention had finished its deliberations, telling of the results.

The same thing will happen when the Democratic national convention convenes in San Francisco June 28.

Not only that but the Evening News owns the franchise in this district for the Central News Company's picture service, and the current illustrations used in the News are the same used in the big dailies of the state, publishing afternoon papers, on the same day, and the same that appear in the big morning dailies the day following.

The conclusion is: Ada has a real metropolitan newspaper, alive and on tiptoe for all the news all the time.

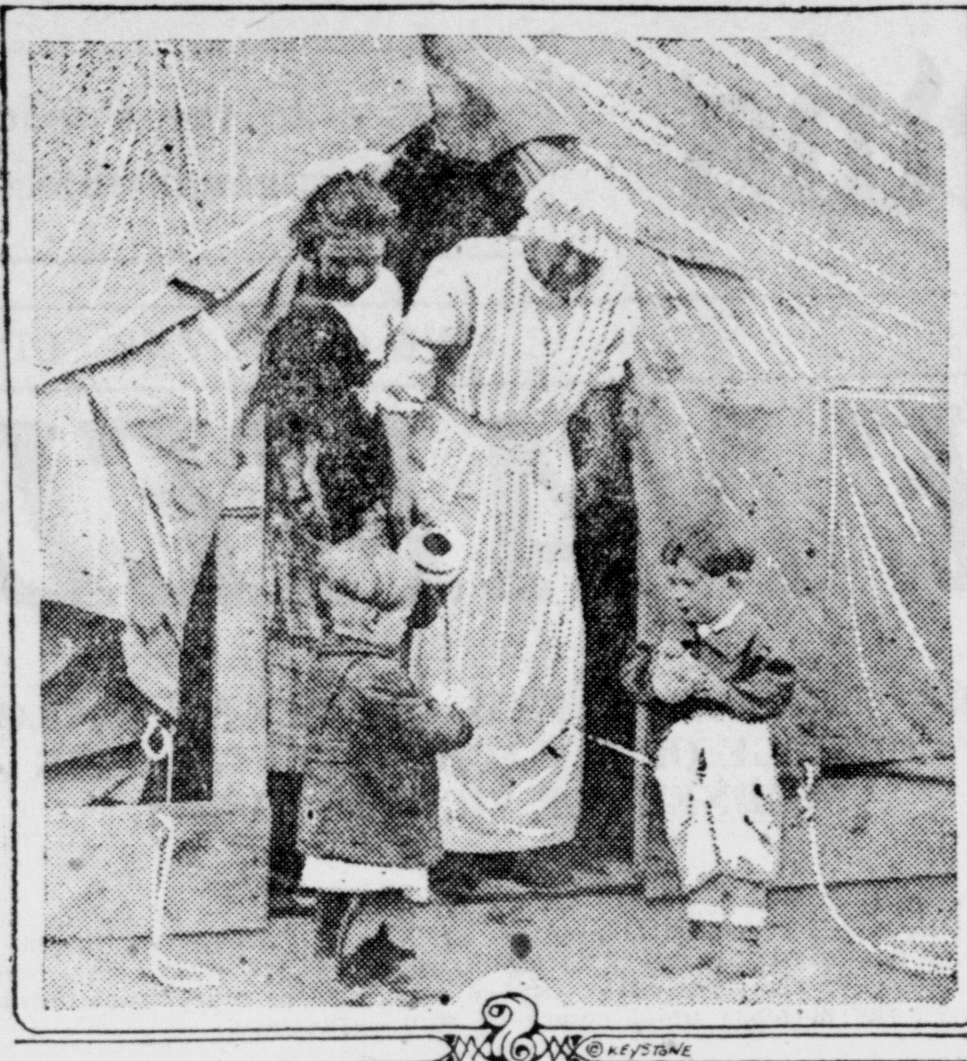

The moral is: Don't spend money on other daily papers carrying news that you can get in this paper several hours ahead of its contemporaries.

The News is for Ada first, last and all the time. It is boosting—eternally boosting—for you and your town.

What are you doing for the News?

Board of County Commissioners (Party of the first part) (SEAL) By W. H. Brumley, Chairman

J. I. Laughlin, Member, Warren E. Moore, (Party of the second part)

Approved: Robt. C. Torrell, State Engineer

Resolution by board of county commissioners in the matter of the establishment of certain highways in and for Pontotoc county, Oklahoma.

Whereas, the board of county commissioners of Pontotoc county, Oklahoma, have taken steps to lay out, establish and construct and are now building and constructing a public highway running from the foot of 22nd street in the southern limits of the city of Ada, Oklahoma, in a southeasterly direction to form a connection with the Byrd's Mill highway runnings south from Mississippi avenue in Ada, Oklahoma, at a point just south of the Ada Press Brick company's plant, and have had said proposed road approved as a state highway, and,

Whereas, in laying out and establishing said road and having the same approved as a state highway it was at all times the intention of the board of commissioners to establish the same and have it approved as an additional state highway in and for Pontotoc County, Oklahoma, as said county is now entitled to eleven miles additional state highways according to the percentage allowed it by law, and,

Whereas, the public highway running south from Mississippi avenue on section line between sections Three (3) and Four (4), Township Three (3) North, Range Six (6) East, commonly known as Byrd's Mill highway, and with which highway the said proposed road running from 22nd street as aforesaid forms a connection south of the Ada Press Brick plant, as heretofore been designated and now in a state highway, and,

Whereas, it now appears to the board of county commissioners that the proposed road running from 22nd street as aforesaid is being established and designated as a state highway and is indefinite as to said road being an additional highway, and may be construed to effect the character of the Byrd's Mill highway so as to discontinue the same as a state highway, and,

Whereas, in laying out and establishing said proposed road and having the same approved as a state highway it was not and never has been the intention of the board

HERE TO PREACH CHRISTIANITY

Rev. Sadhu Sundar Singh.

Rev. Sadhu Sundar Singh has arrived from India to preach Christianity in the U. S. He is thirty years old and lives on free contributions. He has been preaching since the age of sixteen and for the last ten years has been in Tibet, where he was thrice imprisoned for his attempts to Christianize the people there. He came here under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. The name Sadhu Sundar Singh means in the Indian language, "A Servant to God."

of county commissioners of said county to establish and approve the same as a state highway in lieu of any other existing state highway in the county, and especially the Byrd's Mill highway, but only to establish and have the same approved as an additional state highway, and,

Whereas, It appears to the board of county commissioners of said county in order to protect and preserve the character of the Byrd's Mill highway as a state highway, that the acts and proceedings of the board of county commissioners heretofore had in connection with the establishment and approval of the proposed road running south from 22nd street aforesaid, so far as the same are inconsistent and conflict with the intention of the board of commissioners as herein expressed, should be corrected and amended so as to express fully and definitely the intention of the board not to change, alter, vacate or abandon any portion of the Byrd's Mill highway, or to substitute for or build in lieu thereof the proposed road.

Now, Therefore, Be it Resolved by the Board of County Commissioners of Pontotoc County, Oklahoma, in regular session convened:

That in building and establishing the public highway running from the foot of 22nd street in the southern limits of the City of Ada, Oklahoma, to form a connection with the Byrd's Mill highway south of the Brick Plant, it is not now and has not been the intention of the board of commissioners to build and construct the same as a state highway, in lieu of or as a substitute for any portion of the Byrd's Mill highway, or affect the character of said Byrd's Mill highway as a state highway, but that said proposed road should be an additional state highway.

And be it further resolved by the board of county commissioners that the said Byrd's Mill highway be and the same is hereby in all respects restored to its former status as a state highway and that all the acts and proceedings of the said board of commissioners heretofore had in connection with the establishment as a state highway so far as the same seeks to change or alter the character of the Byrd's Mill highway as a state highway or to substitute the proposed road in lieu of any portion thereof and are conflicting and inconsistent with the intentions of the board of commissioners as expressed in this resolution be, and the same are hereby repealed, vacated and held for naught.

And be it further resolved that the board of county commissioners of said county take such steps as may be necessary to make the record in the establishment and approval of the proposed road from 22nd street aforesaid show that said road is approved and to be approved as an additional state highway, so as not to interfere with any other state highway now or heretofore existing in Pontotoc County, Oklahoma.

Passed by the board of county commissioners of Pontotoc county, Oklahoma, this 7th day of June, 1920.

W. H. Brumley, Chairman, J. I. Laughlin, J. D. Pace, members.

Attest: M. Garner, Clerk of the board of county commissioners, Pontotoc county, Oklahoma.

"Member, when you were in school, you thought the kid who 'skipped' a grade was a humdinger?"

Well, he was a piker alongside of George Burns. For this player has jumped from Connie Mack's kindergarten to the graduating class of the American League—provided the Indians graduate into a pennant winning outfit as per Cleveland's hopes.

Connie's little tots were having a good time the other day when he walked into the nursery and told them that Burns, one of their three "papas," was going away. Tearfully they gathered around the other two vets, Clarence Walker and Amos Strunk, and heard the story.

The Indians recently got Burns from Connie Mack for somewhat over $2,500 and a youngster, it is believed. He joins the tribe in a utility role to fill Doc Johnston's shoes at first when Doc's Charley Horse halts him, and to pinch hit.

Burns was born in Niles, O., and broke into baseball in 1913 with Burlington in the Central League. Detroit obtained him the following season and he played with the Tigers until bought by Connie Mack last year. Last year with the Mackmen he hit .296 and fielded .982 in 126 games. His acquisition by the Cleveland club means that the club has decided to let Joe Harris remain in outlaw baseball or trade him.

KREMER TO OPEN DEM. CONVENTION

J. Bruce Kremer.

J. Bruce Kremer of Butte, Mont., will call the democratic national convention to order at San Francisco, June 28. Mr. Kremer is first vice chairman of the democratic national committee. He was selected, according to an announcement by the democratic national committee, because it was thought fitting that a western man should open the first convention of the party to be held west of the Rocky mountains.

News in Brief of Women of Today

When a society woman, a popular matron of Newport circles, the mother of three children and a home lover, enters the business world you may be sure it is not "feminism" or a desire to be "different," or to start a fad which makes her enter the new field. This is the opinion of Mrs. Natalie Schenck Laimbeer, who was once the pet of Newport and is now a successful banker.

"I went to work because I had to," she frankly explains. "My husband was killed seven years ago in an automobile accident at Long Beach. There were three children to raise and not money enough to see them through. So naturally my life's work was mapped out from that time."

When William S. Laimbeer died it was up to his pretty wife to either eke out an existence on a frugal scale and wait for the children to help with their earnings or to get out and work herself, giving up domestic and social freedom. She chose the latter. Unlike many of the modern business women who are successes she does not credit her success to unusual good fortune. In fact it is the many obstacles which she had to conquer that makes her story so remarkable.

Disable herself by the accident in which Mr. Laimbeer lost his life, it took nearly four years for her to regain her health so that she could compete and win in the working world. In those four years she used the knowledge of the household arts taught her in her childhood by her southern grandmother. She made mince meat and preserves at her country home and sold them. She designed clothes for children. She collected her own personal recipes and sold them to housekeepers and home economics publications.

She made an exhaustive study of sewing, cooking, cleaning and decorating, comparing the old methods with the new, and devising ways and means of earning a livelihood from her conclusions and experiments. Two years ago Mrs. Laimbeer won her first position in New York City giving up her country home and bringing her two small daughters and fifteen-year-old son with her. She worked as manager of the bureau of home economics. The uses of electrical devices for the household was her specialty. She showed women how to make housework a delight; how to be neat, smart and fashionable while doing their own work in the kitchen.

Mrs. Natalie Schenck Laimbeer

On January 1, this year, Mrs. Laimbeer was offered one of the best positions available to women in New York. She is manager of the women's department of the United States Mortgage and Trust Company. She is the first woman admitted into an important position in the bank and has entire charge of women's accounts advising them on investments and seeking new business from her own sex. She is out of her office several hours each day, as any man might be, "looking over the situation" and "bringing back the bacon."

"Banking is the great business for women," she declares; "it opens up a vista for them of new worlds to analyze and conquer. They learn where money comes from, how it is invested and spent on the largest scale."

By the way, she does not dress like an "efficiency" expert. She carries the distinction of individuality and grace in her clothes. Garbed in a soft black silk dress trimmed with pretty little meaningless tassels and delicate white embroidery at the throat and wrists she is entirely feminine.

to a clash in authority which can but make for vagueness in policy, misunderstanding and general inefficiency in many respects. The men who drafted our constitution were able, and they builded well, but they could not foresee everything. The remarkable growth and rapid changes wrought in this great state since its admission into the union, calls for a new and more applicable guiding instrument.

Make Law More Concise.
"A constitution should be drafted which contains less and effects more. We need less law in Oklahoma, but law which is more clear, concise and responsive to the conditions which confront us. We must have such law if the future progress of the commonwealth is not to be hampered, and perhaps seriously retarded."

"With this fact in mind, it is my earnest hope that every constituency in the state will send to the legislature men of broad vision and undoubted capability. If the people of Oklahoma wish to be well governed they must give due attention to the selection of those who are to govern them. The selection of representatives in the legislature is a grave matter. It may have far reaching results."

The governor spoke in words of highest praise of the good road building being done in Tulsa county. After a thorough inspection of the roads already completed and a study of those contemplated, he expressed the hope that every county in the state would realize in the same manner the necessity of good roads and show the same zeal in their construction.

CARPENTIER WILL BE IN TULSA THIS WEEK

NEW YORK.—Though Georges Carpentier has only been in this country for a very short time he has shown such wonderful cleverness that every smart manager or publicity agent would find him a good lesson. 'Tis quite a revelation to notice that this famous figure in sport and war does anything asked if within reason. In fact, he steps out of his way to be accommodating.

This startles all who can recollect the tour of former champions. It was only a few years ago that Jess Willard came to this city after severing the shackles from the white man of the fighting world. Instead of entering the town with the expected bang of the tom-toms he crept in silently and refused to face his worshippers. That is unless they stepped right up to the box office and separated themselves from much money.

Sullen Jim Jeffries Then revert to the time that Jim Jeffries, sullen and sour, swung through here just before he fought Jack Johnson. There was no affability about the fellow; just a fighter according to his actions. When not on the stage Jeff held himself aloof from his admirers and naturally didn't increase his army of idolators. Maybe 'twas his nature; nevertheless, he was distant and that's what we're talking about.

With this classy Frenchman conditions are far different. Whenever he is invited and can find the time he goes there figuring upon the publicity. If so, that proves his smartness. The most successful part of all his moves is that he makes them naturally and in such a manner that he creates an atmosphere of good nature wherever he is.

The other night he visited Newark to witness a few bouts. His presence was advertised and brought out quite a number of spectators. He worked all day in a studio and was worn out, but insisted upon fulfilling his engagement. He could have demanded a good sum for his appearance, but wouldn't consider such a thing. He was there as a guest, and his cleverness and tact wouldn't allow him to even dream of accepting remuneration.

Tulsa, June 17.
The affable Georges is now on a tour of America and has been royally greeted wherever shown. He is to be a visitor of the marvelous oil metropolis, Tulsa, on June 17, and notable figures in the petroleum interests are planning as much entertainment as the protracted visit will permit. It is a noteworthy achievement of the Magic City in securing this marvel as he has been besieged throughout the length and breadth of the land for a glimpse of his athletic prowess.

GOVERNOR DECLARES CONSTITUTION FAILS

By News' Special Service

TULSA, Okla., June 13.—"The constitution of Oklahoma does not meet the needs of this rapidly growing state. It has become antiquated, is retarding progress, gives rise to constant conflict in the various branches of the state government and should be superseded without delay," declared Governor Robertson prior to his return to Oklahoma City.

"I am going to ask the legislature to submit a proposal to the people to call a second constitutional convention with a view to eliminating these glaring objections and placing the state government on the most economic and efficient basis possible," he declared.

Ties Governor's Hands.
"Because of the limitations of the old constitution the hands of our governor are tied. No matter how good his intentions may be, no matter how earnestly he may desire to carry out the campaign promises he has made, he is powerless to act with the freedom and decision which should be reposed in his office."

"The things that are true of the governorship are likewise true of other departments of the state government. The constitution gives rise

PRESENTING THE ISSUE

Two weeks ago the league of nations was considered the only great national issue. Today it occupies a minor position among several issues. A month from now it will probably have been forgotten in the heat of a national campaign. The Chicago convention without design or intention has led the battle of 1920 far from the field occupied by the covenant of 1918.

When the Old Guard at Chicago adopted the platform they did adopt and nominate the ticket they did nominate, it issued a bold and unequivocal challenge to the union labor forces of America. That platform has already been denounced by the Montreal conference. The ticket also will be denounced by labor forces, wherever assembled. In view of the attitude maintained today by union labor no one will doubt that the followers of Gompers will unsparingly condemn the presidential nominee who voted for the anti-strike clause of the Cummins-Esch bill and the vice-presidential nominee who suppressed a strike of policemen in Boston.

The San Francisco convention may be expected to pick up the gage thrown down at Chicago. As a bid for the labor vote of the country the Democratic convention may be expected to adopt a radical labor platform and nominate a candidate of the McAdoo type for president. Already the the opportunity for democracy. While Mr. Bryan condemns who sees in the present situation what he is pleased to call the opportunity of Democracy. While Mr. Bryan condemns the McAdoo candidacy, he advocates the McAdoo program and voices a demand that no candidate answers one half so well as the former head of the treasury.

The adoption of a radical labor platform and the nomination of McAdoo would present the clearest cut political situation since 1896. It would precipitate the hottest presidential contest known to history since Bryan began his life's work of running for president. It would renew the same old class struggle and revive the same old class prejudice of the populist days. It would give the democratic party a blow from which it would not recover in twenty five years. But it is altogether probable that such a thing will be done and that the San Francisco convention will become the antithesis of the Chicago conclave.

The convention on the Pacific will be dominated by Wilson or by Bryan or by both. The two can never agree on a league of nations issue. Then can agree on a labor issue. Those who have been dreading war to the knife between the two leading democrats now see presented an issue that will produce harmony in place of strife, that will force an alliance in place of disaffection. Thinking only of the loaves and fishes and caring little how the prerequisites of office are obtained the politicians in charge of the national meet will embrace any means of cementing the several elements of the party. Hence it becomes as sure as anything in politics can be sure that the coming convention will accept the challenge of the convention that has just gone. Labor and capital will become the issue of the 1920 campaign.

No one denies that such an alignment would be deplorable. The recognition of class distinctions is censurable, the agitation of class prejudices is damnable, but the best politicians are frequently the worst citizens, and the men who manipulate conventions are willing to subject the nation to almost any danger in order to control the government of the nation.

COOLIDGE NOT TO QUIT GOVERNORSHIP

By the Associated Press
BOSTON, June 14. — Governor Coolidge, vice presidential nominee, returned to his desk at the statehouse today to "finish his job." This was his answer to a query whether he would resign to devote himself entirely to the republican national campaign. The governor will offer to assist in the campaign, but according to his secretary, Henry F. Long, his activities will be conditional on his ability to do full justice to the demands of his present office. Governor Coolidge has before him several important matters, including a special session of the legislature next fall to ratify the statute.

Many telegrams of congratulation were received yesterday and scores were added today. They included messages from Harry Daugherty, manager of Senator Harding's campaign, and Charles E. Hughes.

Adrianople was the Ottoman capital until the fall of Constantinople in 1453.

PARIS PAPERS NOT AGAINST HARDING

By the Associated Press
PARIS, June 14.—Few newspapers in this city venture to comment on the action of the Chicago convention, although they all devote considerable space to the nomination. "It is a triumph of the machine of the party organization for its bosses, over personalities sufficiently powerful or well supplied with funds to be in a position to appeal directly to the nation," declared Fernand, political editor of the Echo de Paris.

"Mr. Harding is a champion of the international political point of view, which raised the American senator against the Versailles treaty," says the Journal, "but all Frenchmen are greatly satisfied with the elimination of Hiram Johnson, whose heart and spirit would never have been greatly in favor of France. Harding is of a type made up of uprightness and kindness and work; he deserves our respect and sympathy."

WILLIS' SPEECH NOMINATING HARDING

factory and trouble breeding in international as in domestic affairs. From this hopeless tangle of unparalleled inefficiency, unheard of extravagance, unconstitutional usurpation of power and un-American bartering away of national independence, the democratic party is impotent to solve these problems because it has grown and fattened on the very evil policies and practices which must now be wiped out forever if the republic is to live.

"The republican party here assembled, with the faces of the heroes dead looking down upon us and commanding us with mute lips to stand by the principles of the party and defend to the uttermost every American ideal, will go forth to victory on a platform pronouncing unequivocally in favor of constitutional government and obedience to law; in favor of repeal of war-time legislation not needed in times of peace but seized upon by a power-grasping autocratic administration to perpetuate itself; in favor of legislation to promote industrial peace, not by protecting a rich man because he is rich nor a poor man because he is poor, but rather by protecting the upright citizen rich or poor, because he is upright; in favor of a peace treaty as, while fully discharging our obligation to other nations, will at the same time protect unequivocally every American right and reserve for decision by our own people exclusively, every purely American question; and in favor of the maintenance of the principles of an American protective tariff and an American merchant marine. These are bound to be the dominant issues of the forthcoming campaign. Then why not name as our candidate the man whose record is the party platform, for the record of Ohio's candidate is the record of the republican party in the last decade.

"He fought for an American merchant marine to carry our commerce under the American flag to all the ports of earth, while other leaders were skeptical or quiescent; by the side of McKinley and Mark Hanna he helped bear the heat and burden of the day in their struggle for rehabilitation of American industry; four years ago he stood on this platform—the choice of both William H. Taft and Theodore Roosevelt for chairman of the convention; and it is only fair to add that as a member of the senate he enjoyed the intimate and confidential friendship of both these great leaders. He had the honor to present to the senate and to secure the enactment of the legislation providing for the Roosevelt division for service in France—legislation which was eagerly welcomed by a patriotic people but which was not utilized because of executive partisan bigotry without a parallel in all the annals of war. I thus speak of his cordial relationship with Col. Roosevelt because it shows the capacity of really great men to overlook minor differences for the common good—not because Ohio acclaims him the successor of Col. Roosevelt. Roosevelt left no successor; his mantle fell on no earthly shoulders; no chieftain remains to bend the bow of Ulysses. But his lofty example will abide. May we not learn from it that lesson of broad vision and uncompromising Americanism without which party fealty is an empty thing and a free republic only a fragment of memory. As a member of the committee on foreign relations of the U. S. senate, Ohio's candidate had prominent and honorable part in framing the reservations to the peace treaty which were adopted by the senate and which will be the battle-ground in the forthcoming campaign, between Americanism and internationalism. Let us nominate the candidate whose record is the platform.

"In personal character he has the dignity, urbanity and breadth of vision of McKinley. Like that other great Ohioan, he is one of the common folks—best loved by those who know him best. With no working capital other than his own ability and his capacity for toil, he has built up a prosperous business employing many men and in the shop where he works side by side with his men there has never been an hour of labor trouble in 25 years of friendly co-operation.

As laborer, as employer, as editor of a great newspaper, he knows the many sided industrial problems and will bring to its solution the same quiet good sense and spirit of helpful cooperation that have characterized his business and professional life.

"William McKinley was a great president because he understood the viewpoint of congress and knew how to co-operate with the legislative department of the government. We have had enough of one-man government. It is time to resume the functions of government as set forth by the constitution. We do not need a dictator, an autocrat, to give orders. The country calls, rather, for a man of courage, poise and decision, who while reserving to himself the right to direct the general course of government, is not so cocksure of his infallibility as to refuse to hear the advice of other men of large ability and wide experience; a man deliberate in judgment, wise in counsel, and of such caliber and experience that in these troublous times of unrest when the old ship may have to sail tempestuous seas before she reaches her usual calm course of progress, he can say to officers and crew, as he labors among them 'Steady, boys steady.' We need not so much brilliant and hair raising maneuvers as we do safe and sane seamanship by a captain who knows the way.

"Ohio presents such a man for your deliberate consideration. He is a stalwart fighting republican, who believes in the efficacy of representative government under party sponsorship; knowing and heeding the lessons of the past, his face is toward the future—he is not a professing progressive, but a performing progressive; and he is a vote getter. The country needs the republican party, the republican party needs Ohio and Ohio needs the nomination of her candidate to insure success. We believe we can carry Ohio this year for the nominee of this convention whoever he may be and we pledge our undivided effort from now till November to bring that about, but with our candidate nominated victory is certain. The enemy carried Ohio in 1912 by 100,000 and in 1916 by nearly 90,000, yet in between times in 1914 a great forward-looking Ohio republican was elected United States senator by 103,000 majority and he carried along to victory the whole republican state ticket with me on it and he can carry Ohio next November by 100,000 majority.

"If we had carried Ohio in 1916 a great Republican president would be in the White House today. If we carry it in 1920 the nominee of this convention will be inaugurated president March 4, 1921.

"In the name of Ohio republicans I present for your deliberate consideration the man who can carry Ohio and thus insure republican triumph—that modest, dignified, substantial citizen, that aggressive, sane cool-headed leader of men, that typical American, Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio."

American

Today Alice Brady in "The Fear Market." From the story by Amelia Rives. Directed by Kenneth Webb. A drama of New York's well dressed self satisfied society and the parasites who prey upon its pleasures and feed on crumbs stolen from the tables of the rich. A real art picture. Coming Tuesday, Bessie Barriscale in "Tangled Threads." Charlie Chaplin in "Behind the Screen."

Liberty

"The Honeymoon Limited," featuring Pat Patterson, the original Josh Spruceby, and a big musical comedy of merit. On the screen the star of stars, Mary Pickford, in "The Romance of the Redwoods." This is a program that would please the most fastidious. Don't fail to see it.

'THE FEAR MARKET' SHOWING AT AMERICAN

"The Fear Market," which is now showing at the American Theater starring Alice Bradley in the principal role, is without a doubt one of the few photodramas seen, on the silver screen which has a strong appeal, full of tense dramatic moments, and so ably told as to keep one rooted to the seat from start to finish. It is truly a drama of the highest type.

Whether one's tastes run to stories of love and romance or gets most pleasure from photoplays because of thrills provided by stirring action, or would rather cry than smile, or revels in the presentation of problems of the day for these angles of appeal, "The Fear Market," a Real Art Picture, stands first in film dramas.

Miss Brady as Silvia Stone and her supporting cast of eminent screen artists leave nothing to be asked for, bringing forth into play human emotions in a manner dramatic and most realistic.

Film fans and lovers of the drama must be sure to see "The Fear Market" at the American Theater and surprise themselves with a real treat.

Judge Stuart Made Most Able Speech Saturday Afternoon

One of the ablest political speeches ever delivered in Ada was made on North Broadway Saturday afternoon by Judge C. B. Stuart of Oklahoma City, speaking in behalf of Scott Ferris. Stuart was introduced by Judge J. M. King and spoke for some time to about 250 people.

The speech was simply a presentation of the record of Senator Gore during the war period. It was remarkably free from abuse, but presented the facts in an unanswerable way. He called one after another the votes that Gore cast against the war policies of the government and gave the page of the record on which the vote could be found. Judge Stuart had with him the record of the war congress and substantiated by the record every assertion he made. As a clear presentation of fact the speech was unanswerable.

Judge Stuart was accompanied on his trip to Ada by R. C. Graham, who served in France with the famous Marine Corps and who was wounded at Belleau Wood. Mr. Graham is a former editor of the Miami News.

After Judge Stuart had spoken Saturday the crowd was entertained at some length by Judge J. W. Bolen and J. W. Davis, speaking in behalf of Gore and Ferris respectively. Judge Bolen made a severe attack on Judge Stuart's record as a corporation lawyer, which was wildly cheered by A. A. Walker, a prominent political leader of the County.

Let a Want Ad get it for you.

By the Associated Press

Sunday School Day At Methodist Church A Splendid Success

Yesterday was a great time for the First Methodist Sunday school. There was a total count of 510 in all classes. This is the largest attendance in the history of the Sunday school. That all interested in the church and Sunday school were very proud of this record goes without saying.

The large crowd was unable to find recitation room inside the church. One class recited in the parsonage, one at the north entrance and one on the lawn. As Superintendent Bradley put it, it was a "very agreeable confusion." However, the Sunday school workers expect to be able to handle the crowd better next Sunday. Various arrangements are planned so as to accommodate all who come. The program carried out was as printed in Saturday's paper. It was well rendered and thoroughly enjoyed.

BILL HOUSE SHOOT AT ALVA NETTLES

Nettles and I believe my interference saved Mr. Nettles' life. "As son as I got hold of Mr. House I said, "Come out of here,

Bill, and Mr. Hamilton and I took him to my car and carried him to my home where he remained during the night."

Another man who saw the shooting said the Palm Garden was crowded with people and that even if Mr. Nettles had escaped the bullet someone else would certainly have been shot when the pistol fired. Several ladies were in the building and one young lady fainted. Most of those who were in the drink stand went out the rear way, and it is said if the police had been on hand they could have made several arrests for speeding.

Charges of assault with intent to kill against Mr. House were filed in Justice H. J. Brown's court this morning. Bail was set in the sum of $2,000 which was immediately made by the friends of Mr. House. The preliminary trial will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

It's a Lie!

It being our honest belief that over fifty per cent of the people are in total ignorance of the real methods of cleaning employed by the artists of today, we write this ad as a measure of transmitting to you essential explanatory intelligence. Years ago a wily and sharp minded gentleman of Connecticut bent his brains to the task of producing some lofty and high sounding name for a secret cleaning method. He must have been a man similar to the immortal Barnum to believe in the ability of that name to hum-bug the people. He wasn't far from right. The method of cleaning for which he is given credit for inventing is known today as "French Dry Cleaning." Well, we are willing to concede to him the glory of inventing that splendid name but never any credit for the discovery of a new cleaning method. Why? Simply because "French Dry Cleaning" is absolutely nothing more or less than the old-time, dependable means of cleaning with GASOLINE! And now about this steam cleaning? Ah, yes—that Steam Cleaning. Well, just ask some cleaner right quick what it means. If he doesn't tell you that it is nothing in the world but warm water and good soap it will be because you didn't ask him quick enough. There is positively only two methods of cleaning. They are with gasoline and water. Of course every proficient cleaner has secret chemical spotters, but spotting can't be expected to thoroughly clean a suit of clothes. The only way one Cleaner can be better than another is to understand those particular methods more precisely, to have more experience, have the PROPER MACHINERY to aid him in his work. The employees of our business boast an advantage on ALL THREE POINTS!

Short News Notes From Movieland

(By DAISY DEAN)

Whether the closing of the theatrical season has anything to do with it I do not know, but one thing is certain—the screen is gaining new talent with the closing of some of Broadway's shows. There have been several new faces added to those already in shadowland and here is one you will undoubtedly see soon. Wilda Bennett, who scored one of the hits of the New York theatrical season in "Apple Blossoms," is to make her debut in pictures with the S-L productions.

Miss Bennett says motion pictures have charmed her completely. Her first role will be that of Conscience Williams in "Love, Honor and Obey." This is Eugene Walters' photo-dramatization of the novel, "The Tyranny of Weakness," by Charles Neville Buck. The picture will be made with an all-star cast at the Metro studios in New York.

W. S. Hart Hurt.

William S. Hart (is he your favorite, too?) was seriously hurt a few days ago. He has broken ribs, bruises and lacerations after being thrown by a horse in a film scene.

The horse became frightened when Hart was struck by a limb of a tree and hit the actor with two feet as he fell from the saddle.

Statistics.

Ten miles of photo-plays, valued at $100,000 a mile, will be presented this coming season through the Mayflower Photoplay Corporation to picture patrons throughout the United States.

Those ten miles of pictures, directed by Allan Dwan, Charles Miller, R. A. Walsh and Sidney Franklin, are complete or very near completion. To Dwan will go the credit for making the greatest film play mileage, for he has completed five productions each a mile long, and is starting to produce his sixth, a picture yet unnamed.

The names of some of the most famous authors appear in this ten miles of picture plays. Among them are Harold MacGath, Robert W. Chambers, Robert W. Service and William Allen White.

It is estimated by a statistician in the Mayflower service that in the total mileage of these photoplays there will be three-quarters of a mile of tears, four miles of laughs, half a mile of sighs and four and three-fourths miles of thrilling suspense.

Gossip Bits.

A Swedish picture company has persuaded Winifred Westover to visit that country and star in film version of Ibsen plays. She will sail June 12.

Bert Lytell will probably leave the picture field for a while and accept a stage engagement in New York.

Former President William H. Taft is the head of a new film syndicate called the American Picture Associates, which will film 24 patriotic features.

Several Stars In Movie World Hail From Oklahoma

Famed afar as the garden spot of the world, proclaimed in the far corners of the earth as a land of gushing oil wells where men go to bed as paupers and rise as millionaires, Oklahoma has yet another claim to a lofty niche in the halls of the select.

From this state so recently a land of wilderness and prairie, where the Indian roamed in his native dress and the bandit sought refuge from the minions of the law, has come an imposing array of the brightest luminaires that grace the movie world, and lend their genius in every civilized nation of the globe.

Rogers from Chelsea.

Will Rogers, the much starred cow-boy comedian, whom Tulsans flock almost weekly to see perform upon the screen, hails from the thriving little city of Chelsea, just a few miles down the Frisco from Tulsa. His relatives still make their home there, and Rogers has invested heavily in Chelsea real estate with the wealth he has accumulated in the movie business. It is said he has also purchased real estate in Tulsa.

Those finished screen actresses and world-wide favorites, Lillian and Dorothy Gish, once made their home for a while with their uncle Rube Gish, in Shawnee, and attended the Shawnee public schools. Rube Gish has for years been an engineer on the Rock Island between Shawnee and Fort Smith.

Elsie Janis Visits State.

Elsie Janis, a topnotcher on both stage and screen, who endeared herself to the boys overseas during the war, once spent considerable time with relatives in Oklahoma City. She was so well known there that a special reception was arranged in her honor when she visited that city a number of years ago.

Marguerite Skirvin. who is fast gaining acclaim in the film world is a native Oklahoma City girl. Her father, William Skirvin built the hotel there which bears his name. Miss Skirvin finished the Oklahoma City schools and spent all her years there until she went east to study dramatic art.

Al Jennings and Henry Starr are cause of their prowess with the padded mitt. Willard, the former world's champion pugilist, is usually referred to as a Kansan, but he had lived in Sayre, Oklahoma, a number of years and drove the town water wagon when he decided to camp on Jack Johnson's trail and went to Oklahoma City to make his start.

Carl Morris spent his entire boyhood in Oklahoma. He attended the public schools at Shawnee and at Chandler, was later a fireman and engineer on the Frisco railroad through Tulsa, and fought many of his battles in this city, before he went west and added to his bank roll by getting on the screen occasionally.

BRILES AGAIN IN THE LIMELIGHT

A struggle looms before the state board of education over the choice of a president for Ada normal school that may develop as great bitterness as came up over the removal of C. W. Briles there in 1916.

For Briles, it is understood at the capitol, will be an applicant for the place when the board meets, probably some time in July. That Governor Robertson would present Briles' application to the board, unless virulent opposition arose at Ada, was the report at the capitol Friday. Petition that Briles be not appointed already has been filed with the state board.

Present Head Leaving.

M. L. Perkins, who is acting president of the Ada school, will go to Phillips university, Enid, next fall; the choice of the Ada head must therefore be made at the summer session of the board.

Ex-Governor R. L. Williams led the fight for the removal of Briles in the stormy session of 1918, and Briles had as his most ardent supporter State Superintendent R. H. Wilson.

Wilson, however, found his bitterest opponent for re-election in 1918 was Briles, and since that time friendship hasn't been marked. It is understood Wilson will wield his influence against Briles now.

Briles was named by Governor Williams as chairman of the vocational training board, and is acting in that capacity now.—Oklahoma City News.

To Elope Is Tradition
In the Gould Family

NEW YORK, June 14.—(Special)

When Edith Gould, eighteen-year-old daughter of George J. Gould, slipped quietly away to be married to the man of her choice, young Carroll L. Wainwright, she did no more than a long line of "marriage-for-love" Goulds had done before her. She had only to remember the romance of her mother.

When the son of Jay Gould, then a leading financier of New York, married on September 14, 1886, Edith Kingdon, a young actress playing with Augustin Daly's company, even his closest friends were surprised. Russell Sage was one of the few who knew the secret.

The wedding proved to be a most happy one.

Marjorie Gwynne Gould, the eldest of four daughters, was the first to marry. She was just twenty when she became the wife of Anthony J. Drexel, Jr., of Philadelphia.

Jay Gould, the second son, and Helen Vivian Gould, the second daughter, married the next year. He wedded Miss Annie Douglas Graham and his sister became the wife of Lord Decies.

Kingdon Gould was the first of the children to follow the romantic example of his father. On June 30, 1917, he applied at the marriage license bureau with Miss Annunziata C. M. Lucci, an artist, for a license to wed. When his father was told of it in Lakewood he said:

"It's news to me. First I've heard of it."

A few days later, on July 7, the biggest surprise in the marital adventures of the Gould children came in the elopement of George J. Gould, Jr., youngest son of the millionaire banker. His bride was Miss Laura M. Carter, of Ardent N. J., and the two were married in Philadelphia. They gave their ages as twenty-one. The bride was a dancing teacher and appeared in public as an interpretative dancer.

A year later a son, George J.,

Normal and Campus

By Shelby S. Bruce.

Quite a few of the students spend the week-end with relatives out of the city.

Ball game this afternoon. Seminole county vs. Okfuskee county on the normal athletic field. Game called at 4 o'clock.

There will be a special assembly tomorrow for Dr. A. E. Winship. Every student is requested to be present. Special music by normal orchestra.

The orchestra, under the direction of Fred Schrieber, is making a marked improvement. They will appear at all open affairs at the normal.

A noticeable increase in attendance of students to the churches in the city was that of last Sunday. Every church in the city had large crowds at all services.

Miss Bond, director of the department of home care and nursing, has a very large class and is making a splendid showing. This is the first year of this instruction in the school and it is to be made a permanent feature.

Prof. J. J. Hooper of Creek county enrolled this morning to take up some special work. Professor Hooper is a graduate of East Central State normal and has attended the state university.

Professor Casteel, instructor of English, is taking up special work in Journalism in this department and has a large class in this work. This is a new feature introduced this term and is proving very popular.

W. P. Stuart of the Rand-McNally company visited the school this morning. Mr. Stuart is the state representative of this corporation. They are wholesale manufacturers of maps and school equipment.

Jesse M. Worley, director of the Schools Savings and Publicity of Washington, D. C., will address the body at assembly this week. He will discuss matters relative to the buying of War Savings stamps and Liberty bonds.

The mail brings inquiries each day relative to prospective students. The schools all over the state are contracting their teachers at the earliest date so as to be sure to have sufficient help for the coming fall terms. Quite a few of the students here have signed contracts.

Dr. A. E. Winship editor of the School Journal of Boston, Mass., will address the assembly tomorrow. He has been very prominent in educational circles for half a century and is considered one of the best school men in our country.

The tennis courts are daily visited by the students who enjoy this past-time. The evening are very pleasant and all seem to appreciate the efforts made by the management of the school to make this feature possible.

The Y. W. C. A. girls have their ice cream booth open every day and report a splendid sale of this refreshment. During the rest periods the students visit this booth and contribute to the funds of this splendid organization.

The baseball team is practicing in the afternoon now and some good material is being found among the new students. The club has been organized and R. R. Robinson is manager. This team will match several games over the state in the next few days.

The little tots over in the new building are enjoying their studies. They seem to be contented and more so when they are given a rest period on the campus lawns. Games directed by the teachers of this department are played which has a tendency to keep them in the best of spirits and make their school life interesting. They have books, magazines and victrolas to afford pleasure while in the school room.

The Educational Review, the country's leading school paper, has changed hands, the paper having passed from the hands of the distinguished Nicholas Murray Butler to Dr. Frank Pierrepont. Doctor Pierrepont was formerly dean of education of the University of Pennsylvania. This paper was established thirty years ago and is read by practically every school teacher in this country.

The invitation extended by the Methodist church to the normal students was appreciated and many of the students accepted as evidenced by the number who attended. The program was splendid and all enjoyed the affair very much. It is announced that all students have a standing invitation to attend the services of any of the churches in the city.

Miss Florence Neff, secretary to State Superintendent Wilson, was a normal visitor last week.

Remember the big picture show on each Friday afternoon. Some good pictures and splendid music is the program.

The men's glee club will hold their regular practice on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. The meeting will be in the auditorium.

The Y. W. C. A. girls will go on an outing to the lake Thursday afternoon. This is one of the many similar affairs to be given by this organization during the term.

The Phi Beta fraternity will give a line party to the American Theater this afternoon. Aside from this occasion they will enjoy refreshments at one of the local confectioneries.

The gym classes and the seniors will take a hike to the city lake Wednesday evening. They will spend their time in swimming and boating and afterwards spread a picnic lunch.

The boys quartet will hold their first practice tonight at the Methodist church. Those composing this organization are, Oscar Parker, Early Emerson, Ira Rowe and Jim Chapman.

The young ladies of the normal are to invite the boys to take part in the outing at the lake Wednesday evening. This is leap year and naturally they want to be in keeping with the events of the hour.

Frank McCain, one of the best known athletes in the state, visited the school last Saturday. Mr. McCain was formerly an instructor of aviation in Italy and has just returned from that country. He is going to take up athletics in some school in this state.

The distribution of the Pesagi will close Saturday. The remaining copies will be given to the various schools in this city and some sent to schools out of town. Oscar Parker, the business manager, stated this morning that he has just about completed the business affairs for the book and is much pleased with the support given by local business men.

Capt. Frank S. Weir of Washington, D. C. will be here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and address the assembly. Captain Weir is an instructor of mass game and will conduct this work on the normal athletic field. Everything is planned to receive him and much interest is expected to be manifested in this training.

The "Old Man" at the Normal
The "Old Man" is still a mystery. No one can find out anything about him. Some have even written poetry about this mysterious person.

Below we are publishing a composition by a normal student:
"Why ask that simple little lass?" said he;
"I came to find out 'the mystery,'" said she.
"To see the 'Old Man' from the Alleghenies pass by
While all the normal students wonder and cry.
Hail! To the 'Old Man' and long live he,
But why do we ask who you are?" said she.

"Why do you students wonder, dear?" said he;
"Because we are curiously in the dark," said she.
"For when you came to us and started by
All we normal students raised a cry.
For your wig we could not see,
And therefore all began to weep," said she.

"Then weep and wonder no more, dear," said he;
"Is it all provided for in your will?" said she;
"Then let your thoughts and eyes wander up to the blue,
Then down and study the mystery through and through;
Never mention the puzzle you could not see,
I am the 'Old Man,' my lassie dear," said he.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE TOILED ON A FARM

middle west. It has always been a "booster" and never a "knocker."

After Senator Harding had established the paper on a sound financial basis, he organized a stock company, distributing shares to each of his employees and he and they still own it.

Has Extensive Interests.
Senator Harding is closely identified with many large business enterprises. Since he took over the Star, Marion has grown from a country town of four thousand inhabitants to a flourishing manufacturing city of thirty thousand and the senator has been a factor in its industrial development.

He has been a "booster" for new industries in a substantial way by taking stock in these companies to the limit of his financial ability and at present he is a director in a bank, several manufacturing plants and other enterprises. He is a trustee of Trinity Baptist church of which he is a member and regular attendant.

During the past twenty years Senator Harding has been three times abroad, visiting most of the European countries to study at close range their systems of government and the economic problems with which this country has to deal.

After his election to the United States senate, and before taking his seat, Senator Harding visited the Hawaiian Islands to get first hand information upon the production and distribution of sugar.

Senator Harding has twice represented the 13th senatorial district of Ohio in the state legislature; served one term as lieutenant governor, refusing to stand for reelection, and he is now nearing the close of his first term as United States senator.

One of his first official acts upon reaching Washington was to sponsor the bill for preparedness which had the endorsement of Colonel Roosevelt and he was closely associated with the late president during his presidency.

He was selected a chairman of the national convention soon after he entered the senate without factional strife.

As a public speaker he is calm, yet forceful. He has a wide vocabulary and is quick at repartee.

Presented Taft's Name.
Senator Harding was selected to present the name of William Howard Taft for renomination at the turbulent convention in Chicago and was again selected to present the keynote speech at the last national convention. He was the presiding officer at this convention.

His friends point to the fact that he resembles in many ways the late William McKinley. Both were of Scottish descent. In presence and manner of speech, in painstaking mastery of detail and tact in bringing opposing factions on a common ground, mutual friends point out the similarity.

In 1891 Senator Harding married Florence King, daughter of Amos King, now deceased, who was one of the leading business men of Marion. Mrs. Harding inherits the business acumen of her father and has been a wonderful helpmate in business and political aspirations of her husband. Mrs. Harding's ambition is for the success of her husband but she laughingly remarks that "a man must be well fed and well groomed if he would succeed."

BAPTIST WILL SEND MISSIONARY

LOCAL CHURCH GIVES CASH TO SEND MAN TO FOREIGN FIELD.
REVIVAL CLOSED LAST NIGHT

Baptists to support a foreign missionary.

The revival meeting which has been going on at the First Baptist came to a close last night. It was planned in the beginning to continue three weeks provided the progress justified it, but the evangelist and singer as well as the membership felt that perhaps it would be best to close the meeting yesterday.

It has been a very successful meeting indeed, as there have been about fifty-five or sixty additions to the church, an a number of professions of faith who will unite with other churches of the city.

Yesterday there was 450 in Sunday school and the building was taxed to its capacity and people were turned away at both hours. Doctor Powell preached yesterday morning in the subject, "The Call of a World Task," and it was indeed a great message. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock he spoke on the subject, "Stewardship," to a fine afternoon crowd, and at the close of the service the pastor baptized sixteen candidates, which brings the total baptisms up to 34, with several others yet to be baptized.

At the night service another large crowd greeted the evangelists. The song service under the direction of Mr. Reynolds was very fine indeed. Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Chapman sang a duet which visibly moved the congregation.

The evangelist spoke on the subject last night, "Excuses." He took up the various excuses people give for not being Christians, and showed how frivolous they were. It was a message that will stay with those who were so fortunate to hear it.

At the close of the service, the pastor, Rev. Morris, stated to the congregation that he wished very much that our church would take on the support of a Foreign Missionary. Doctor Powell had stated that the salary of a missionary was $720.00 per year and that the expense of getting a missionary to the field would bring the total up to about $1020.00. The congregation decided to raise this amount and the collection begun. When the offering was counted there was $1,200.00 even in cash laid on the table. This amount will support a missionary and two native workers.

The church missionary will sail in August and it is now the plan of the local congregation to have the missionary visit them between now and the time he sails in order that they may know him personally.

Doctor Powell and singer Reynolds make an evangelistic team that can hardly be equaled anywhere, and they leave the church

Ada Compress Had Best Year Known Making Improvements

The Ada compress, owned by the Anderson-Clayton Cotton company, last year compressed 32,000 bales of cotton. This is more than the average output of the local press.

Pontotoc county produced more cotton last year than it has produced in a number of years. This compress depends largely upon the county's cotton production. However, cotton is shipped in from a 50-mile radius.

Most of this cotton is shipped to foreign countries. It is exported by both the southern and eastern routes. According to the statement of the local superintendent, W. T. Anderson, there will be a greater demand abroad for American cotton this year than there was last year. Besides this, we will have a decreased production here on account of the lateness of spring and the reduced acreage. With these conditions it is safe to assume that the price of cotton the coming season will be high, to say the least of it.

Superintendent Anderson also states that the compress here will be in better shape than ever to handle the season's crop. Repairing is going on at the present time to get everything in shape. The compress season begins September 1 and lasts to May 1.

It requires about 35 negroes to operate the Ada compress. It is quite an attraction in these busy times to hear those old darky melodies as they roll the cotton bales. One is reminded of the old tune, "Sing a song of the city, roll that cotton bale, nigger he ain't half so happy as when he's out of jail."

Besides the negroes employed there eight or ten white men are required for engineering and clerical work.
